Club Coordinator Updates

Jamie C: Today we have En Christo and Alzheimer's Awareness for club updates.

- En Christo

Video played in chambers:

<https://drive.google.com/file/d/1Dvp2Jg8wWxCiCPO856Wd7lrkoZUJGxRY/view?ts=622d3f74>

- Alzheimer's Awareness

Katelyn: Hi I am Katelyn, and I am the president of Alzheimer's Awareness club. We have had struggles this year with membership and involvement. I want to transform the club into a connection club. Rather than focusing on the disease itself, which is important, I want to also try to make it geared toward providing support to members of the community and students dealing with family and loved ones with neurodegenerative diseases. It will include letter writing to patients at Rockwood and other retirement homes. Scrapbooking is another one that would be fun. Yearly we do Christmas baskets for Rockwood dementia patients. I will send info to club members to figure out what they want to see happen. Senators if you want to put this in newsletters that would be great.

Jamie C: Any questions?

Club Chartering:

- Disability Awareness Club

Christian: Hi friends, I am so excited to share with you the details of the disability awareness club. Before I get started, I wanted to recognize that this has been a team effort and introduce the amazing members of our executive team for this spring. I will be serving as our club president. With me today is Sitara Busby our vice president and Cali Hall our secretary. Kyle Fitch will be acting as our treasurer and Cyndi Caniglia of the ed department will be our club advisor. Our club has two main goals, the first being more important than the second. Our first goal is to create a welcoming and supportive space for students who are neurodivergent, differently abled, and allies to be in community with one another and engage in meaningful conversations. Our second goal is to advocate for change regarding disability throughout campus and engage with allies. The reason our first goal is more important is that we want to make sure we are pouring into ourselves and others and making sure everyone feels supported in their stories before we pour into the community. We want to focus on loving one another and then advocating for the community. Our club meetings will be both social and educational in nature. Some meetings will just be a time to discuss one's stories and how we can support one another. At other meetings, we will connect with different members via education events of the Whitworth community to discuss how to thrive in college. How do we access accommodations and write professional emails? Any questions?

Makayla: How closely are you partnering with ESS?

Christian: I met with Katie McCray, and she said there is not an atmosphere for students to talk about their experiences. ESS will tell them about the club and the club is a place for them to self-disclose info and connect with other students dealing with the same things.

Discussion:

Abby: With taking the outreach position away, this is great for a representative space in the community.

Rebecca: It's a great idea considering Christian only recently found out his job is being taken away and he came up with this quickly and did a great job.

Makayla: The organization seems there and there is structure in their goals. The leadership structure seems to be rock solid.

- Girl Gains Club

Video: Hi I am Mackenzie and am proposing my new idea for a club. I apologize for not being there in person, I had prior engagements, but I am grateful for the opportunity to share my passion with you. My club is for girl gains, a female weightlifting club and my purpose is to create an environment for women with any fitness experience to come and be welcome and grow together. I want to be there so girls know it is okay to be beautiful and strong. I have some ideas for guest speakers about nutrition supplements, form, and workout plans. We could do workouts like yoga in the loop, hikes, and other types of workouts like CrossFit and Pilates and meeting up for lifting sessions. We will also work on community building, meetings, volunteering for organizations, internal study halls, and discussions. This is a part of a national organization called girlgains.co and their mission is to empower women to be strong and beautiful and not afraid. I wanted it to be a female specific club because it is a male dominated field, and it can be easy to be overwhelmed and not connected. I was that way when I started lifting. I want to create a safe environment for girls on campus. Because of inclusion we allow men to come but it is female based. If you have questions, Jamie knows more but don't be afraid to shoot me and email.

Makayla: Since it is a part of a national movement, is there a fee?

Jamie: No. The only tie is representing their mission and empowering women but there is nothing that causes them to spend money and there aren't hour requirements. This would be male inclusive and anyone can come, similar to WIF to empower females in the space but everyone can come and support.

Grace: Who is the best contact?

Jamie C: Mgarcia24@my.whitworth.edu

Motion to Approve Girl Gains Club

Moved by Katelynn, Seconded by Jamie F

Discussion:

Grace: I heard about the national organization before this club on Tik Tok and I think it is awesome and I definitely want to be a part of it and start conversations around and build community. I have heard from this club, and it sounds great for Whitworth women.

Logan: I think it's a great idea for a club. I know a lot of women are intimidated by the gym and want to go to be healthy so it's a great space for girls to go and create community and get stronger.

Katelynn: I like that they are talking about nutrition because some girls who are just starting to workout think you cut calories to be lose weight and it can be unhealthy. I think it's important to have resources on campus where females and people can come together because in the media it is set up for skinny twig girls that aren't real. It's a safe space for them to learn how to get in better shape and healthier.

Jamie: She was on the lacrosse team freshman year and got injured and many athletes have a hard time going to the gym when injured so especially for freshman this is great.

Makayla: I am going to graduate, and I wish it would've been here from the start. I have tried to go to the UREC many times and I get intimidated a lot. Sometimes I don't feel comfortable using machines because I don't know how. I don't want to go ask a guy how to do things always so having people to identify with will inspire confidence and comfort.

Katelynn: If anyone wants to go to the gym, I go 6 days a week with deadlifts and squats.

- Approved Requisitions

Abby: Storytellers club and minorities in stem had approved requisitions this week.

- Requisition Votes

Abby: I will start with Teachers of Tomorrow to talk about their requisition. I have the details here and I emailed it out. This is a concise version and essential they are doing 3 events. Are there any questions for Grace who is here representing this requisition?

Jessica: I contacted TOT via email, and I was wondering what is the purpose for Hispanic heritage being associated with TOT and is it open to all?

Grace: It is geared toward ed majors, but all are welcome. We are getting Hispanic ed majors to speak at an event and I think I put you in touch with Sofia and she will reach out. I will follow up and all are invited. We are catering Costa Vida.

Jessica: There are HOLA members here too.

Janeth: Catering from Costa Vida might not be the most appropriate for Hispanic heritage because the restaurant is owned by 2 white guys profiting by others. Being close to the May 5th holiday, the Mexican culture doesn't really celebrate it. It started in the 1970s when alcohol companies wanted Hispanic people to buy drinks and it became bigger here and its problematic. I wish more people knew about it. It is not the best thing to cater from Costa Vida and De Leon's would be a better option to cater from for a Hispanic event.

Grace: I can look into that. We did Costa Vida last semester because we had done that in the past, but I was unaware of that. I can look into that. We are looking to have the Hispanic heritage event to get the ed people talking and share their thoughts and act as a sendoff to summer.

Jessica: I wanted to bring that up because if it's sponsored by ASWU I don't want it to be associated because the Latinx community believes celebrating Cinco de Mayo is not appropriate. There was some miscommunication and I wanted to fix that and wanted to let you know about that issue and a lot of my people don't like the idea of that. I know it wasn't intentional.

Grace: I will follow up with sylvia.

Rachel: How many people is this event feeding?

Grace: Around 30. It is $11.99 per person plus delivery, set up, and tip.

Logan: Are we voting for Costa Vida or if it changes to De Leon's?

Abby: Let's just do questions for Grace right now.

Motion to Approve Teachers of Tomorrow Requisition

Moved by Kyle, Seconded by Katelynn

Discussion:

Rachel: One thing I will say is I am concerned about 600 dollars for 30 people.

Makayla: I second that. We catered tacos for 150 people for the off-campus mixer for 400 dollars. There are cheaper and more socially conscious places to cater from.

Aidan: Why are they having it delivered and set up? There is a delivery fee and would removing that cut costs?

Abby: It is $420 for food and the rest is décor and tip.

Jessica: I didn't want to call them out, but I have sent multiple emails about how inappropriate it is. It's all I could do and it's important to address it and many issues and cultures should not be played around with.

Georgia: I don't think you owe anyone an apology, it needed to be said and that's on them for not responding. No apologies.

Katelynn: For the requisition I feel like it's a big amount for a 30-person event. I am iffy about that. It's a lot of money and we know how events go. I have thrown an event for 150 people under 200 dollars.

Rachel: We can also do a friendly amendment to change things.

Larkin: Could we approve parts of it and tell them to pick a different thing that is culturally appropriate or ask them to connect with Jessica better?

Jessica: That was my plan initially. If I can support a local latinx business I would rather spend more money on that than chain restaurant.

Larkin: Yeah, could Jessica connect with them?

Abby: We would deny them this part and the new amount will be different. If that's the route we want to go, deny this event with a friendly amendment, and then approve $144 for the rest.

Larkin: The $144 is reasonable.

Makayla: To clarify, is this event also intended to be held on May 5th?

Jessica: Based on email I got I think so.

Makayla: With cultural things in mind, the day is problematic and connotations of this especially with TOT needs to be addressed as us supporting them and the implications it would have on the student body.

Rachel/Jessica: There is no date set.

Friendly Amendment passes

Grace: Senators make sure you are voting on constituents and not necessarily what they tell us but their best interests and making sure we need to represent everyone equally and advocate for their needs especially minoritized groups. I talked to my constituents and by what they said I could vote yes on the $600 but with their best interest it is better thought out.

Elisa: If it is around Cinco de Mayo, are the decorations going to be themed?

Abby: I don't have information on exact items, and I don't know what decorations will look like. We approved the motion so $600 is no longer on table. Just $144 now.

Makayla: What is the autism awareness event entails?

Jason: They are working with Fran and putting together a list of events for autism awareness like a walk, tabling for awareness, and one other.

Makayla: Is it conscious minded?

Jason: Yes

Abby: As a reminder we are approving $144.

Abby: Now for Springfest, the amount i sent you had a $10 cleaning fee we don't need anymore because we have our own machine now. The amount is different now and $2173 is correct.

Sienna: This is for the inflatables for Springfest, and it is a big part. They will be there for 4 hours, and they are for the college students, faculty, and their kids. There is not enough money in budgets for Springfest.

Abby: Sienna and other coordinators are draining budgets for the event which will cost $15000 so this is small fraction. We are not being frivolous.

Grace: What are air dancers

Abby: The gas station things that move (acts out air dancer movement)

Jamie F: Could I request for more?

Logan: Why is the slip in slide so expensive?

Sienna: It is a big inflatable not just a tarp. If anyone wants to see pictures, I can show you it is cool.

Jason: We get asked why don't you just put a tarp down? It ruins grass. Facilities does not want that in the middle of campus before commencement

Motion to Approve Springfest Requisition

Moved by Courtney, Seconded by Larkin

Discussion:

Makayla: I have not seen this much excitement from an event since freshman year. This is really full circle for seniors in the room and will be exciting for underclassmen. Springfest is a big deal for the second half of school year. These are all justifiable things and nothing on the list is not going to be used. There is something for everyone.

Jessica: I agree, as a junior I haven't experienced a full Springfest, and sophomores and freshman haven't either. You have to go all out on this one.

Jenna: If there is a runoff is it the day before easter weekend? Would they find out that Thursday night?

Rachel: Yes. It is a short time span.

Christian: Has Chris discussed doing a possible exec debate discussion?

Rachel: Good question. In the past we had one. It is always a thing.

Jason: It will probably on the 10th or 11th depending on candidates' availability. We are not selecting ahead of time because everyone has to be there.

- Safety Committee Survey

Rachel: As you remember last semester, we talked about starting a safety committee and it is happening. Surveys are going out on Monday. It will be in your inboxes and our goal is to collect data on safety and security and improving things to talk to administration about what is happening. If you have questions, talk to Rachel or Sienna. Please do the survey.

- Sodexo Collaboration

Rachel: In order to get people to run for elected positions, Chris partnered with Sodexo to do some tabling in the dining hall during dinner hours and maybe some in the pines? This is preferred for senators and reps to help out with, and you will talk about your job and catch your residents in the dining hall. With that being said let's do sign ups.

- Meal Cards

Rachel: We will provide meal cards to those, prioritized for off campus and neighborhoods, who came to the meeting today. They are for Sodexo to eat dinner with us as a team.

- Student Highlight

Rachel: Bishesh is our student highlight this week. He dealt poker on Saturday, and we are very appreciative for him. Shoutout to him.

Past Events:

- Off Campus Mixer

Reeshika: It went really well we had about 125 people and it was about $6.62 per person. People had fun. Thanks for those who came.

Jessica: Reeshika, Makayla, Courtney, Marie, Munya, Jamie, you did great I had so much fun. It was memorable.

Georgia: As per usual the off-campus gang killed it. It was fun and I had a blast. I'm not off campus but I wanted to be for one night. You served your constituents well.

Grace: I infiltrated as well. It was awesome to see the off-campus community and play and have fun. It made my heart happy.

Aidan: I didn't get to go but housemates went and talked about it before and after. They loved it and had so much fun.

- Casino Night

Sienna: Y'all popped off. Overall it was so good, and I heard great reviews from people. You all killed it, I am thankful for all of you and even those who could not make it asked if I needed anything. You all learned how to play the game and deal for people in a short amount of time, you are rock stars. It was a wonderful night. There was about 275 people which was about $29 a person which is expensive, and we are working on it for next year. It was a full circle moment and casino night was the last event before covid and first one with masks optional.

Marie: Amazing job. I am glad you planned it and it was great. I was dealing craps on the side and for the future I don't know if Mark has other employees but one more would be nice because he forgot about me until the end and taught me last minute. He sounds like an auctioneer when teaching. Maybe one more teacher. One guy stayed the whole night and taught me how to play.

Aidan: It was great. I was at go fish and higher or lower and it was very aggressive, and people got really into it. People were mad when they found out I got their money. Lots of emotions were there and it was fun to see a 5-year-old game in college.

Logan: Straight fire. I have heard great things. I was doing higher or lower and it was fun taking people's money and I had to fix it so people could get money.

Larkin: I was also with them, and it was fun to teach people how to play. It was interesting, I was concerned about gold coins that they could not come to me first because I didn't have enough tokens and ran out of coins. That was the one thing, I needed more coins. I had to steal from other dealers.

Katelynn: In my office hours I had a conversation about casino night and I did not hear one negative review. Everyone had fun and it was the best event this year. I was doing roulette and it was fun. My table was loud and enjoyable. I did not have anyone who didn't not like it.

Jamie F: I had fun freshman year going to casino night and I dealt blackjack and cleaned people out. Logan brought a second tray. It was a good time; my whole house went.

Georgia: I thought it was handled well and organized well which is difficult for a large event. I am proud of Hannah and Sienna, and they deserve more credit for it.

Makayla: I talked to Sienna about this, there was an issue of misogyny, and I don't know if other female dealers felt this, but some people would come to the table who had already done card games and were telling us what to do. We need more training prior for confidence or meeting prior to know what to expect. I liked that we had a dress code because there were cohesions but if there is anything we could do, me and other females said they overheard people talking about us in inappropriate ways. So maybe a dress code for everyone so they aren't centering on the few in cocktail attire or something like that would be healthy to address because part of casino culture is tied into that.

Upcoming Events:

- THRIVE Week

Rachel: THRIVE week is happening, and we had snow cones today. We have rage room tomorrow. We are also tabling outside on Friday for THO.

Abby: It is from 11:45-2pm in the loop, come smash a plate. I will text the helpers.

Samie: We don't need people for the tabling but Saturday we have our mental health softball games at 12pm and 2pm and we need people to set up in the morning.

Georgia: Is this a game for Whitworth?

Samie: Our president is on the softball team and the organization does sponsored events that are not really sponsored but it supports the team with mental health and raises awareness.

Jason: If you come to the game at noon there is an 85% chance of chewie being there.

Samie: Bracelets too.

- Cultural Crafts and Snacks

Jessica: I airdropped half of you this and if you declined it, why? I will send it via email later on. The event is tomorrow from 6:30-8:30pm and half of the stuff is back in the back room. I am excited. I have my helpers and will resend an email. I am all set. There will be henna, Chinese calligraphy, embroidery, fabric weaving, evil eye charms, red bracelet making and other crafts of significance for cultures. There is clay as well for vases. I am shopping for more international snacks for craft and snack night, and I have been bugging people to come.

- DuvOliver Dance

Larkin: We got the foundation set up. We are snack shopping on Friday. Wear your PJs in Oliver from 8-11pm. We need 5 people to help.

Marie: Last time there was a dance this happened, swing dance is having another dance at the same time.

Larkin: My RA is the swing and dance club president and asked if we could shift it and we already did the HFS, and we didn't know he was planning the event.

Grace: That club has had issues with putting events with HFS and getting it approved. I am not going to spend much time on it but we aren't malicious people.

- Monday

Rachel: The exec team wants to do something from 3-4pm on Monday. Be looking for an announcement in the GroupMe and we want to give you a snack because you are all working hard. More to come. I could cook you rice and chicken.

Makayla: I want to make request for dairy free options as I haven't been able to participate in food lately.

- Women's History Month Speaker

Jessica: After the super cool Monday on Tuesday there is a speaker, and I airdropped these posters as well so please accept them. Tuesday March 22nd from 7pm-9pm. Two nonprofits are coming to talk about how they got the rights to vote in the Spokane community and how to achieve that now and promote that. We will have voter registration after the event. Also transition of Spokane will be here which is a nonprofit to place women into their first home or apartment with family and come hear how to support women in the local community and if you come, first 150 get macaroons and dairy free and gluten free options as well. Professors are offering extra credit. WEY RTT 7-9pm.

Constituency Reports

The Village:

Hannah L: Residents are having more study groups and doing homework because lots of people are alone and doing things in their rooms.

Warren:

Logan: Residents are sleeping for rest. We are trying to find time to hang out with other friends and get outside. We have a Sunday study session instead of primetimes so that helps to prepare for the week.

International Students:

Michael: International students are doing great and having community lunches at the ISC where they are eating together and learning about Austria.

Neighborhoods:

Not present

Ballard:

Katelynn: We are doing good. Everyone is enjoying the sun and going to the play.

Boppell:

Jamie G: We are pretty good. Good food is being made in the kitchen. Everyone is doing their own thing.

Duvall:

Larkin: We are hanging out in the lawn a lot with hammocks and getting the sun. We are trying to study and not be trapped in our rooms.

Oliver:

Grace: Oliver has been doing pretty decently. Some residents are getting accepted to study abroad trips and getting really excited and making plans for Spring Break. As of right now, what my residents are trying to take breaks to take care of themselves, read books, take naps, and go shopping. Other residents are finding it hard to take care of themselves, but Spring Break is close, and residents are excited for that. Overall, Oliver residents have been doing good.

Arend:

Samie: We are doing great. Lots of primetimes about fun stuff instead of studying to lift moods and lots of outside time.

McMillan:

Christian: Mac is happy to get outside to longboard, cycling, and hammocking. There is a little cold going around. Some are struggling through midterms sick.

Stewart:

Rebecca: We are doing alright. Yesterday I asked what people are doing to improve mental health and they laughed. Our mental health week is this week, and we are talking to Iona, and we had banana bread and her dog is coming. Also after they laughed, I found the carbon monoxide detector without batteries at the table.

Baldwin-Jenkins:

Kyle: BJ is a tale of two cities with lots of outside time enjoying the weather and other people hunkering down in their rooms. Some of my friends are watching the bachelor and it is getting spicy. We have a consensus that we hate the man.

Incoming Student Reps:

Michelle: We are drained with midterms but excited for spring break; some are going home or on trips. I had lots of feedback coming from THRIVE week with positive marks.

Elisa: We are spending time with friends and family, cooking food, and hot showers to find rest.

Off Campus:

Reeshika: We are doing good. Residents are taking care of themselves and coming to events. Most of them got into grad schools and are happy about that.

Campus Vibes

Jamie C: There is a track meet at noon on Saturday right next to the softball games. Come watch it is a full day event and I am throwing and might be ranked.

Jenna: Two things. Chapel partnered with world relief for a refuge simulation. There are lots of African refugees in Spokane and if you want to learn more, come to the simulation on Saturday March 19th from 830-1130am with free pizza. World relief is coming to put it on. Sign up on the poster or links on campus ministry's Instagram. Secondly, thinking about study abroad is something that has been frustrating because financial aid is late, and people have to place their deposits and you don't know if you can afford it. Students have to say no because they don't know if they can afford it because financial aid comes later.

Grace: Those flavor shots in the dining hall; I am living for them. You'll see when you go down. I love the Sodexo changes which is a big effect for little change.

Larkin: Some constituents asked why there aren't first aid kits in residence halls especially with the Duvall accident at the beginning of year. We just had to wrap a shirt around her head. We want to know what we can do.

Jason: That is res life. Talk to your AC.

Georgia: Once upon a time God said let there be light and then Georgia complained there was no light and now it's good and we have light now. It is finally not pitch black. Very exciting.

Janeth: I don't know if this is the right place, I saw on a poster for a soccer tourney that it was a Cinco de Mayo tourney, and I am confused. The old team has received requests to partner today for tacos and it's not a holiday we celebrate, and I wish we didn't have to continuously explain it to people. I don't know what to do.

Jason: The poster you are speaking of is not affiliated with a club or ASWU. I would say contact the person on the poster and reach out to them.

Rachel: HOLA is not a taco source.

Jessica: Seconding that. I have gotten emails about that too from HOLA members who are upset. I have confusion about that, and I am not Mexican myself.

Janeth: Friendly reminder, if you see someone celebrating and it gets disrespectful, let them know. The US being a part of it contributed to capitalism and we need to be aware of the fact of how harmful it is to certain cultures.

Reeshika: Thanks to who came to my event. Aeron did a good job taking photos and even my professors said it was great.

Christian: About Cinco de Mayo, can HOLA do an educational poster to let people know? In ASWU we want to address things and I want to help HOLA out.

Janeth: We want to hold something in the MPR to educate people about the history. It is not the independence of Mexico. Something we can do is create a history session to be more educational.

Christian: If you send the details, ASWU will support you.

Makayla: I have noticed a huge change from fall to spring with participation in activities so keep up the good work. A constant flow of events is tiring but it is going great, and I am proud of the turnout and energy from constituents.

Shoutouts

Christian: Shoutout to Anna Gillingham and Leighton for casino night and making mocktails.

Jamie C: Shoutout to Jessica for standing up for what you believe in even if it's awkward, you are saying what is right.

Larkin: Shoutout to Abby and Logan for supporting the snow cones, I had to leave early, and they took care of cleaning up the sticky mess I made.

Rachel: Shoutout to Samie and Abby, you helped me get the A-frames out. Shoutout to Georgia for helping me pass out relaxing face masks and helped me overcome my nervousness. Shoutout to Aeron for last minute posts. Shoutout to Logan Abby and Larkin for snow cones, it went an extra hour because there a big was demand. It was fun. Shoutout to Sienna and Hannah, you killed it last Saturday.

Aeron: Shoutout to Urvashi and Logan who took over my blackjack table.

Sienna: Shoutout to all for casino night, you killed it. I am happy to work with passionate people. Shoutout to Aeron for making the video.

Georgia: Shoutout to Abby and Jamie for getting plates for rage room.

Jenna: Shoutout to the people doing interviews and Jason for coordinating schedules.

Christian: Shoutout to Rachel and Grant for coming to the real talk real action conference and my workshop.
